School Damage and Vandalism

After the long weekend, we had a burglary which broke a door panel, tripped the alarm and a number of guitars were taken. During the weekends and over holiday periods, your school appears to be vulnerable. If you see anyone behaving suspiciously, please ring the police on 5991 0600. Unfortunately, the cost of repairs and replacement of equipment (our excess is quite large) means we have less money for curriculum items for students. Fortunately, Rangebank has very little graffiti or vandalism and as a school that is strongly linked to the community. Rangebank hopes to continue providing high quality facilities for our students and organisations that support our school.

Staff Carpark

The use of the staff carpark, which is clearly advertised at the entrance, will return to having a chain placed across the entrance to dissuade inappropriate use by non-staff members. This is after many notices in the newsletter asking parents or carers who pick up or drop off students to use the public carpark or to park in a safe section of the street.

The reason for this is that children use the staff carpark to cross as they head towards their parents car and the school council and school is concerned about a child being inadvertently hit by a car. Better to be safe than sorry. Also, a mesh fence will soon be erected to direct children to use one of the two crossings to enter school.

Voluntary Contribution

Recently our administration officers have sent our letters requesting voluntary contributions from parents/guardians who chose not to contribute and asking if they had reconsidered or perhaps now was a better time. A number of our families have chosen to make a contribution and on behalf of Rangebank Primary, I would like to thank them publicly for their great support.

A-Mart Sports Dandenong

Unfortunately we don't have a store in Cranbourne but there is one on Dandenong Road, near the Dandenong by-pass. Matt Walker who has been a great supporter of Rangebank is now moving to another store. On behalf of Rangebank, I would like to wish Matt all the best and look forward to seeing him back in another capacity very soon. Meanwhile, Daniel Noy the Store Manager, is now going to look after us. It was A-Mart Sports who provided four bikes and 30 sports balls to us earlier this term. I did get them to 'paint the fence'.

Have a great weekend, Colin Avery (Principal)

Parenting Advice

Michael, you need to take a BIG breath!"

My wife spoke those words to me recently, when I started to get a little carried away when recounting some poor customer service I received at a store.

This phrase stopped me in my tracks. Yep, I was catastrophising, turning a minor insult from a store attendant into a huge incident. Yep, "I'm never shopping there again" was taking things too far.

"Michael, you need to take a BIG breath!" worked so well because it was a trigger phrase. It's part of our family's proprietary language and it has a great deal of meaning behind it.

In fact, "take a BIG breath" triggers a whole story that has gained meaning over time about 'not getting carried away', 'not taking yourself too seriously', 'forgiving and forgetting a slight made against you', 'staying in control of your emotions' and 'winding back your thinking.'

Trigger words and phrases are powerful. They save parents time as we don't have to give the whole story every time we need to speak to our kids. We do however need to explain their meaning at some point.

Here are some other trigger words and phrases that have developed currency in my family.

"Look after each other!"

"Behave well in other people's places."

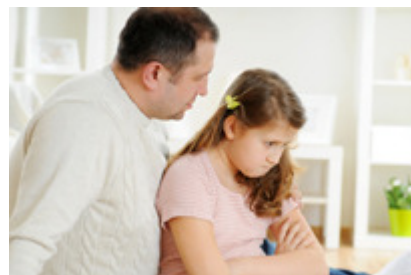

"Be smart, be sensible, be safe!"

"Do the best you can do!"

"That's a great learning opportunity!"

I sense my kids could have written an essay outlining the meaning of each as we spent some time building the narrative around them.

So what words and phrases are you using that trigger a story for your kids? What trigger words and phrases are you developing that will become part of your family's proprietary language? What words and phrases are you developing that will have impact on your kids when you're not around? Trigger words and phrases are simple, but powerful tools that parents have used for generations. They stop us from committing one of the biggest parenting sins - over-talking to make a point!
